

Brief

The Vitl product team have decided to test interest in a new product, personalised vitamins for pets. Your task is to develop a static webpage based on the wireframe on the next page, using HTML, CSS and Javascript.

Requirements

- Must be responsive and adjust to screen sizes sensibly
- Must be HTML5 compliant
- Must support typical modern browsers
- Must present the modal popup after load and allow the user to dismiss it
- Should be considerate of users with additional accessibility needs
- Should consider SEO implications

Optional

- Add styling to make the page match Vitl's brand
- Add some suitable imagery to the page
- Add some animated effects

Notes

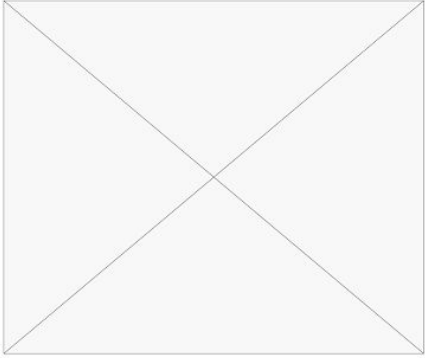

- The test should take you 1-2 hours to complete
- We are looking for high quality code
- We are looking for attention to detail
- Quality over quantity
